ALUMINIUM PRINT INSTALLATION GUIDE

Because the aluminium prints can be hung outside, and look best when flat against a wall, we have decided not to include hangers on the back. The flat aluminium surface on the back provides a perfect base for many ways of installation:

EXTERIOR WALLS:

- Exterior construction glue: We recommend (and can provide at additional cost) Siroflex Building Adhesive, which works in a standard glue gun. Alternatively an MS building adhesive will offer quick grab, neutral cure and UV resistance. Clean both surfaces and follow adhesive instructions before applying. If you do not want the print permanently adhered to the wall, we recommend making a backboard or frame which can be screwed to the wall first.
- Screw: SEMI-PERMANENT (Through aluminium) Clamp the print to stop from movement. Work out where your holes need to be and apply a small strip of masking tape to the front face, marking the drill points. Create a pilot-hole using a centre-punch and/or a smaller drill bit. Drill through the aluminium on a SLOW speed to create a hole where you need it. A drill press, or titanium or high-speed steel bits are easiest but not required. Once you have drilled your holes in the print, use these to mark your wall so you know where to put in wall anchors (if required) and drill the pilot holes for installation.
- Z-type mirror clips or similar: SEMI-PERMANENT (Around the print to hold it in).
Hold the art against the wall and place the z clips around it. Mark where the clips need to be screwed to the wall. Then using a centre-punch and/or smaller drill bit make pilot holes for your screws. Put everything back up into position and screw in the Z clips around the art which will hold it in place. Please note, using this system you will see the z clips around the artwork, however you will not need to screw holes into the aluminium.

INTERIOR WALLS:

- Any of the above exterior installations
- French Cleat style hooks: Ensure your hook is strong enough to take the weight of the print. Attach a hook to the back of the aluminium using strong-double-sided tape, or glue. And another to your position on your wall. French cleat systems, flatter picture hooks and aluminium strips that lock together are all great ways to create a hanging system for your print. Please note, hanging systems will bring your print away from the wall slightly, so you will also need to add a spacer to the bottom of the print to ensure it is not tilted.
- Self-adhesive Velcro or 3M Strips: Ensure you use enough for the weight of the print and follow instructions to attach one piece to the back of the print and the other to the wall. Leave overnight before hanging.
