HAND BUILT IN NEW ZEALAND

The Shadowspec Serenity™ & Unity™ cantilever umbrellas are designed and built in-house by our experienced team with a robust development cycle, dynamic feedback loop and the best materials in the world. This enables the team at Shadowspec to produce, what we think is ... the best umbrella in the world.

Your umbrella starts its life at Shadowspec Headquarters in New Zealand. Our in-house team works with a dynamic mix of data-driven design and real-world testing in our famous, pocket-micro-climates.

Umbrella concepts are sketched, iterated and developed with CAD and rapid prototyping technologies. Aluminum, 316 stainless steel and solution-dyed fabrics are combined to build umbrellas that are elegant and refined. Quality control at the heart of the Shadowspec design and build process.

Shadowspec's propriety umbrellas are hand-built at our in-house facility. Our New Zealand-based production team build to spec for global markets, providing unrivalled quality control of the umbrellas.

Custom-Shadowspec-Space-grey masts – or curated Shadowspec-black-heron masts – are checked and assembled with tough resin hubs, precision stainless steel fastening and a high-grade aluminum framework.

Our patented technology that enables ease of use is installed before two rounds of quality control are run over the umbrella as it is checked against the original design to ensure every umbrella is dispatched to a high standard that we're happy with, and of course, that you'll be excited to receive.

Elevate your outdoor space, bring people together and enjoy the world's best umbrella: Hand-built in New Zealand.
